

Everybody's Orphan

e e e e g] B
 See those stars in th night?
 B B B C] B g] e
 Grab them down and wrap them tight.
 e g A f] f] e d e e
 The world has changed into tomorrow.

Reach into the ocean deep,
 Past the man fast asleep.
 e f] g f] g A f] f] e d e e
 It's the only way you'll know that you're not dreaming.

B B C B f] A g g
 I must, I must be born again,
 e A A B A e f] g g f]
 A child who is everybody's orphan.
 B B B C B f] g A A g g
 My eyes are so filled with their own diagrams
 A A B A e f] g g f]
 I cannot see what I am building.
 B B C B f] g A A g g
 The wind that blows through all the calendars
 e g A B A e f] g g f]
 Is the diagram of all worth having.

e e e e g A e
 (Think about it one more time.
 e e e g A B e e
 Pay close attention to the rhyme.)
 B B C B f] B A g
 Oh, me! Oh, my, an endless song.
 B B C B B B f] B A A g
 Oh, me! Oh, my, a senseless lie a-truthing.
 B B C B f] B A g
 Oh, me! Oh, my, what is the time?
 A A A A e f] g g f]
 Endless? Senseless? Or just defenseless?

© 1990 Howard Jones

All the cages in the zoo.
 You gotta have some animals, too.
 Words alone are never quite sufficient.

Water: steam. Water: ice.
 You gotta swim the water twice.
 Once is a trial, again is final.

Peaceful is the eye of a hurricane
 In a world of storms with many centers.
 Although the ground is cold beneath your shadow,
 There's new warmth at the fringes of the winter.

(Think about it one more time.
 Pay no attention to the rhyme.)

Oh, me! Oh, my, an endless song.
 Oh, me! Oh, my, a senseless lie a-truthing.
 Oh, me! Oh, my, what is the time?

Endless? Senseless?
 Or just Relentless?